In 1997, armed with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the University of Michigan, Colleen Miniuk-Sperry moved to Phoenix to begin a 10-year project management career at Intel Corporation. Initially as an outlet to corporate life, she began making photographs of the Western landscapes in late 2001. Then, she left Intel in early 2007 to pursue a full-time career in photography.

Now a freelance travel photographer and writer, Colleen supports a wide range of assignments for editorial and commercial clients. Her work has been published in the Arizona Highways, Pop Photo, Golf Illustrated, Lighthouse Digest, Vancouver View, Atlanta Golf, North Valley Magazine, Sonora Es, Smith-Southwestern calendars, and a broad variety of other publications.

Colleen enjoys leading photography workshops for the Arizona Highways Photography Workshops, Arizona Wildlife Federation (“Becoming an Outdoor Woman”), Through Each Others Eyes, and numerous private workshops, where she has become known for her enthusiasm and her instruction intensive style.

Colleen currently resides in Chandler with her husband, Craig.
